

furniture disposal

When in the midst of logistics planning, design development and furniture selection for a remodel, renovation, or move, the last thing you want to think about is what you're going to do with your old furniture.

The labor, time and equipment involved in disassembling and removing furniture can be overwhelming. Not to mention the complications and restrictions involved in disposing of it. That's why we've developed a streamlined process for getting rid of your old furniture - and the headaches that come with it - all at once.

Here's what we can do:

Fast, easy disassembly - Our professional, Steelcase-trained installers are experts at both putting together and taking apart office furniture of all types. And because they are so experienced, they can be in and out of your space before you know it.

Efficient and safe removal - Thanks to their extensive training, our installers have the knowledge to smoothly and safely remove old furniture and sort it appropriately for disposal.

Proper disposal - Because we are concerned with our environmental impact, we have taken pains to understand how to properly dispose of office furniture and its components. We sort and recycle as many components as possible, including metals, plastics, lightbulbs, ballasts, & more. We also safely discard of all items that can not be recycled.

We know you're busy. And you shouldn't have to waste your valuable time on the details of furniture removal. Simply call Forrer, and our experienced team will quickly get in, get out, and get rid of your old furniture.

Furniture Disposal at-a-glance

Refurbishing

Refinishing

Brokering

Donations

Sales